

The Restaurant Guys

RestaurantGuysRadio.com

Antoinette Bruno Returns - Does Michelin Matter?

Looking for a job in Oregon's wine country? An acquaintance of Francis' is looking for someone to manage their wine bar in McMinnville, Oregon. Francis said it is a beautiful town. If you are interested contact Danielle: danielle@solenacellars.com or 503-852-0082 x 1

Antoinette Bruno brings more than a decade of experience in the foodservice industry to StarChefs.com, the first online food magazine which celebrates its 10th anniversary in 2005. Since taking charge as CEO of StarChefs in 1999, Antoinette has led the company to new strength and respect among culinary insiders. Antoinette travels extensively throughout the US and the world to meet leading chefs and taste their food in order to bring StarChefs' audience a first-hand perspective on the top chefs and their ingredient and technique-focused recipes, as well as industry trends and controversial issues. She recently facilitated a panel discussion on the topic "Does Michelin Matter (in New York)" and she shares her opinions on the topic of Michelin, Zagats, The New York Times and other restaurant review publications.

- ◆ MP3 Available: Click here to listen
- ◆ Links

Original Broadcast Date: 12/11/2006